

Monash University Semester Exchange and Study Abroad Programs

How to apply to Monash Abroad

Which campus can I apply to?

You can apply to enrol in units taught at Clayton, Caulfield or both (Australian campuses with a shuttle bus operates in between), City (Postgraduate Law students only), Parkville (Pharmacy students only) or Malaysia. If you find a unit taught at Peninsula (Australia) you must take all your units at this campus, due to the distance from other campus. Units taught at any other location (Alfred Hospital, Gippsland, Prato, Singapore, Suzhou, South Africa) are unavailable. Students who wish to study at Monash Business School are advised to select units from either Clayton or Caulfield but not both.

How can I meet English language requirements?

You must be able to demonstrate you meet the minimum English language requirements at the time of application to Monash Abroad. Note that English language proficiency test reports must not be older than 2 years prior to the teaching start date for Semester 2, 2019 on 29 July, 2019. If your test report will be out of date please book a new test date as soon as possible as applications cannot be accepted without proof of proficiency.

What are my study options?

Monash offers students the option to enrol across all 10 of its faculties. However, you should confirm with your home university what you are approved to study in order to meet any specific requirements for your home university degree. Please refer to your study options to start researching the unit offerings at Monash.

How can I research units in the Monash Handbook?

Using the browse units tool you can filter units by level, campus, faculty, teaching period, or to select units without prerequisites. Units without prerequisites require no prior knowledge and usually can be approved without requiring you to provide supporting documentation to prove eligibility.

All students (with the exception of Undergraduate Faculty of Law) must select units with a code number prefix of 1, 2 or 3 only. This corresponds to 1st, 2nd and 3rd year e.g. MGC1010 is a 1st year unit. Only Undergraduate Faculty of Law students will select units with a code number prefix of '4'. Units with a code number prefix of '5' are Postgraduate units and available only to students enrolled in a Postgraduate degree at their home university. Non-Law units with a code number prefix of '4' are taught at Honours level and are not available to Exchange and Study Abroad students.

search clear all options

Note: When using the browse units tool to search for off-location/distance education units, it is advisable to select all of the modes listed related to this mode of study to ensure the maximum list of units is returned.

How do I create my study plan?

You are required to select a minimum of 6-8 units and list these in section 4 of your application form.

Note the faculty information outlined in the academic considerations website. All students will need to adhere to these when selecting units at Monash University, as they relate specifically to units taught in that faculty. In addition, other noteworthy requirements considerations include:

- You should select 'on-campus' units due to enrolment legislation however students are permitted to enrol in 1 of their 4 units per semester taught online or distance education;
- Students cannot study both undergraduate units and postgraduate units simultaneously. Undergraduate students can only choose undergraduate units, and postgraduate students can study either all postgraduate units or all undergraduate units;
- Select the units offered at "Second Semester 2019". Undergraduate students and non-Postgraduate Law students may not select units taught in any other teaching period e.g. Summer A, Summer B, winter, Terms 1-4, Trimesters A-C. Postgraduate Law students may only select units taught July-November at this link;
- If you will attend Monash for two semesters, units for your second semester at Monash (First Semester 2020) can be arranged directly with the relevant faculty at the end of October-end of November 2019, upon further instruction from Monash Abroad.

What should I do if I want to select units with prerequisites?

If you select a unit that has pre-requisite requirements you will need to provide full syllabus information (official, downloaded from your home university website or scanned from a hard copy document) for the equivalent unit that you have completed at your home university. The faculty will then conduct an assessment to determine your eligibility for the unit.

What documentation is required to support my application?

Please ensure you include all supporting documentation with your application including:

- an up-to-date official academic transcript for all post-secondary study. Online and unofficial transcripts cannot be accepted.
- a copy of your passport information page (an expired passport is fine, at the application stage it is only to verify personal details). If you have an Australian or New Zealand passport please include this to waive the visa and OSHC requirements.
- Proof of English language proficiency (if applicable)
- Full official syllabi and/or portfolio (if applicable) as per the academic considerations
